| AbstractThe Socio-Cultural surveys are part of a major series of comparative international studies of basic values. Parallel surveys are done each year in several European countries and the United States. CROP Inc. began this series in Canada in 1983. These surveys investigate a wide range of basic attitudes- social, cultural, economic and political. |                      |
